

COVID-19 VACCINATION

How to arrange a vaccination appointment for someone else

You can also arrange an appointment for someone close to you. Check the list to see if there is an online booking tool for your preferred canton.

This checklist will help you gather all the information you need on the person in question. Each canton requires different details, so the checklist contains all the details you may potentially need:

- Gender
- Is the person considered particularly vulnerable due to a specific form of one of the following chronic conditions¹?
 - heart disease
 - arterial hypertension/high blood pressure
 - respiratory diseases (incl. COPD and pulmonary fibrosis)
 - chronic liver diseases, including cirrhosis
 - kidney disease
 - diabetes mellitus
 - obesity (BMI ≥ 35 kg/m²)
 - trisomy 21
- Do they have allergies?
- Do they have a congenital or acquired immune deficiency, or are they undergoing immunosuppressive therapy or treatment for cancer?
- If they are a woman, are they pregnant? Since when?
- Do they work in healthcare in a role that requires contact with patients, or do they care for particularly vulnerable people in a professional capacity?
- Do they have close contact with someone in one of the defined particularly vulnerable groups (adult members of their household)?
- Do they live or work in a communal facility (e.g. a home, etc.)?
- Have they already been confirmed positive to Covid-19 (PCR-/Antigen)?
- Do they currently have a fever or other symptoms such as coughing, sore throat, chest pains or shortness of breath?
- Are they currently in quarantine?
- Have they ever had a severe reaction to a prior vaccination?
- First name
- Surname
